

seven children named, Sarah, Ruth, Elizabeth (or Betsy,) Ose, Naomi, William and Thomas.

Ose Roberts married Major William Garrison, (see Romance in Real Life appended.) Here we have the Stout and the Douglas families uniting in marriage. We will now trace their descendants through the one line of William Garrison and Ose's children, that of their son, John Roberts Park, who was born February 4th, A. D., 1796. He married Johanna Sutphin of Blawenburg, N. J.

The names of his children, as we have seen, are Ann, William Madison, Peter S., Ose, James N., and Margaret Ann, by first wife. Peter S., eldest son of J. R. P., had two children, a son and daughter; names, John Boggs and Elizabeth. Elizabeth married a Baptist minister, moved to New Mexico and died there. Her brother, Dr. John B., has one living daughter, Hilda. His wife's name was Emma Hill. James, third son of J. R. P., was wounded in the battle of Gregory's Landing, South Carolina, and died of his wounds. James has four sons; Benjamin, Wellington, Alfred and Edward. Benjamin has four sons, also; names, James, Bernard, Ralph, Elon and Elbert. Ralph graduated from Princeton Theological Seminary, and Elon studied civil engineering at Princeton, N. J. The mother of Benjamin and Wellington was a daughter of Major Van Cleve, of Trenton, N. J. Alfred and Edward are the sons by second wife, and their mother was a daughter of Alpheus Dunn. Wellington has two girls, named, Eliza and Hattie. His wife's name is Lizzie. Ose Garrison married John Van Horn Whitlock. To them was born one son, name, Spencer Weart.

Margaret Ann, youngest daughter of J. R. P. and Johanna Sutphin, was twice married. Her first husband was James Hageman. James has one daughter named Emma, who married a man by the name of William Van Buskirk. They have four children, (do not know their names) and live in Newark, N. J.
