

THE SUSSEX REGISTER.

NEWTON, N. J., JAN. 20, 1897.

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER.

RICHARD F. GOODMAN, Editor and Proprietor.
ROBERT E. FOSTER. Assistant Editor.

ANCIENT LOCAL HISTORY

Compiled From Files of The Register.

In accordance with a long cherished plan, we begin herewith a summary of the more important events of local interest contained in old files of THE REGISTER. The work is somewhat greater than we anticipated, owing to neglect to preserve complete files, and through the fact that in early days news was tardy of announcement. However, we believe it possesses much interest, and those who wish to preserve the record must send orders at once, as no extra copies will be printed.

1813.

JULY.

JANUARY.

[Edsall's centennial address, and other publications give the date of Brakeman's execution as in 1821. But since printing the record of 1819, on the first page of this issue, we have discovered that it is an error. Peter Brakeman was hung at Newton, June 30, 1820, for the murder of Francis E. Nichols, on December 17, 1819, three miles from Sparta. He had traveled with Nichols, who was a pack peddler, but was not arrested until three or four weeks after the murder. He was tried at the May term, in 1820, Judge Gabriel H. Ford presiding, and hung a month after conviction, in the hollow near Drake's pond. A pamphlet published by THE REGISTER, a summary of which, with names of jurors and witnesses, was partially reprinted in 1888, enables us to make this correction.]

[We are compelled to hold over until next week the remainder of the record of 1823, which includes the premiums awarded at the fair held at Hope.]

24. Premiums announced of the Agricultural fair held at Hope, Nov. 5, as follows:

Robert A. Linn, best 5 acres of wheat, 30 1/2 bus. per acre; first and second premiums.

Charles S. and William B. Robeson, best acre of corn, 104 bus. of ears.

Nathan Hoagland, best acre of potatoes.

Robert A. Linn, best acre of barley, 33 1/2 bushels.

Walter L. Shee, best bull; Peter Angle, best four ewes (no competition.) Mr. Shee donated his premium. In domestic manufacture there was considerable competition. Premiums were awarded to Miss Warbasse for best piece of bleached linen; Miss Elizabeth Shafer, of Johnsonburg, exhibited a very handsome piece of linen, but the committee did not award the premium to her, because it was "too much like lawn." Neither would they allow the second premium to go to William Hankinson, because the exhibitor was not "a lady." John Vanderen took premium on fulled cloth, but he had no competitor; best pair stockings, Miss Charlotte W. Dey; Miss Margaret Shafer and Miss Mary Ann Cox deserved premiums for same; best piece of carpeting, Mrs. Robeson, Oxford Furnace; Mrs. Johnson, Oxford, a new kind of carpeting, well worthy of notice; Mrs. Sarah Shafer could not get second prize because there was no second best. Miss Mary Robeson, a daughter of John Robeson, exhibited a very superior grass hat, about equal to No. 34 Leghorn manufacture, and was awarded a special premium of $3. She had never seen anything of the kind made, nor ever heard of directions for uniting the plait together. Wm. Robeson exhibited three barrels of wine, very fine, made from frost grapes and currants. James VanSickle had three firkins of superior butter, but drew no premium as he had no competition. The Treasurer resigned, and R. A. Linn was appointed successor; other officers were re-elected, and the Society adjourned to hold the next fair at Samuel Decker's, Deckertown, November 3, 1824.

16. Book for stock of Morris Canal and Banking Company opened at Morristown. Then postponed to April 26, on account of defective legal advertising. More money had been deposited than the estimate for construction of canal, and large sums were in the hands of individuals.

24. Married: Joseph Kerr to Amelia F. Swayze, by Rev. B. I. Lowe.

16. Meeting at B. M. Haggerty's, Frankford, to promote building of Lackawaxen and Hudson canal from Sawmill Rift along the Delaware through to Culver's Gap, and thence to the "Pepocotton," etc.

3. Married: Aaron N. Decker to Rhoda Dunn, by Rev. James M. Lowren.

19. Dr. Francis Moran removes to Newton, and hangs out his sign at house of Charles Van Sands.

12. Grant Fitch and ten others offer the Moravian meeting house at Hope, with $1,000 in cash, if the new county buildings are located at Hope. The structure is fully described, with a deed from Abraham Levering and wife, of Lancaster, Pa., conveying the same, in the event of said location.

Papers filled with communications press-ing Hope and Belvidere as county seat of Warren.

24. Married: Archibald Drake to Sarah Cary, by Rev. Clarkson Dunn.

12. Married: Casper Snook to Barbary Simmons, by Benj. Halsey, Esq.

23. Married: Henry W. Owen to Ar-minda Oldfield, by Rev. Mr. Timlow.

For several months there was published a summary of domestic news, that seems to have crowded out any events of local interest.

APRIL.

1. William Beach and William Hunt dissolve partnership, the latter continuing business "in the shop between the Cross-Keys tavern and the bank in Newton." (This is the first mention of such a tavern, and probably occupied the present site of the Hopper House.)

12. Thomas C. Ryerson, Thomas Teasdale, Jr., and Samuel Davis, as agents of the Board of Freeholders, advertise for proposals for erecting a fire-proof Surrogate's office in Newton: 22 feet long, 18 feet wide, and walls 18 feet high exclusive of gables. A vault $5\frac{1}{2}$ feet wide the whole depth of the building, and 6 feet high from the floor. The whole to be covered with shingles three inches thick. (This was described in Edsall's Centennial address as "that long, low, rakish-looking building, driven end-foremost into the Newton green, whose designer is unknown, and never should be." The building was evidently joined to the Clerk's office, if we remember rightly.

23. Rebecca Spice, milliner, east side of green, is up to that date in advertising.

13. Date of the great meteoric shower, which began at 1 a. m. and continued until daylight. The issue of Nov. 18, says: "A most splendid meteoric exhibition was beheld by many of our citizens on Wednesday morning last. The meteors which are so frequently seen in this climate, and known by the name of 'shooting stars,' commenced falling as early as 1 o'clock a. m. They continued to increase both in number and brilliancy until 4 o'clock, at which time the display had become truly splendid. From 4 to 6, the grandeur of the scene did not diminish in the least; but as the day dawned the meteors grew more and more indistinct—the sphere of their operations shrank into a smaller compass—and finally they faded in the distance. About an hour before daybreak, at which period the spectacle attracted the attention of our neighbors, the sky was illuminated with innumerable meteors, shooting athwart the heavens in every direction, and emitting incessant flashes of light, which, falling with a pallid glare upon the hills, trees and buildings in the vicinity, rendered the scene magnificent beyond description. From a point in the heavens, a few degrees southeasterly from the zenith, the meteors rushed forth; and impelled, as it were, by the force of an explosion, spread in every quarter, filling the sky with the most brilliant coruscations. It does not appear that any of them were visible below the horizon, though some assert the contrary. The most of them fell in curved lines, tapering into a narrow stream as they descended. It is said that two or three explosions were distinctly heard at different places. The flame which they emitted resembled faint lightning. After sunrise on Wednesday morning, a mass of gelatinous matter was found in this town, which from its singular texture is supposed to have formed one of the larger meteors. In appearance it resembled soft soap, possessed little elasticity, and upon being subjected to the action of heat, evaporated as readily as water. * * In our immediate vicinity many persons were horribly frightened. * * Such an unusual scene, however, could not but have been appalling; and it needed no aid from morbid sensibility, from ignorance, or from superstition, to fill the mind with awful forebodings. The only appearance at all comparable to it occurred in South America, November 11, 1779—being precisely 54 years and one day from the present remarkable exhibition."

16. "True American Temperance Society" met at house of Gershom Obdyke, Stillwater; William Shiner, clerk; George Losey, president.

16. Newton Vigilant Society met at house of Samuel Rorback, at 6 o'clock.

25. Barn of William Bodine, near Washington, fired and burned by his mother, who afterward hung herself in a neighboring orchard.

26. Court opened at Newton, Justice Hornblower. Case of Bowdewine Decker vs. Caskeys, involving $2,500, occupied most of the term and was won by the latter. Samuel Keeler was acquitted of having found and secreted a pocket book; this result was gratifying to a large audience which thronged the Court house during the trial.

Machine invented to cut shoe leather, doing more in one hour than 12 men can do in a day.

27. Ketcham & Doland dissolve partnership at Franklin.

27. Singing school organized at the Academy.

DECEMBER.

Philetus Phillips is about to give up his school and remove from Newton.

17. Morris canal opens for season.

18. A notice signed by 39 prominent farmers is to the effect that the coopers of the county having resolved at a recent meeting held at Bray's tavern, not to make or sell butter firkins for a less price than five shillings per firkin, all farmers are requested to meet at the same place on April 5, to take into consideration whether butter at the price of 12 or 13 cents, delivered in New York, would warrant such a price being paid for firkins. Benjamin Halsey was chairman of the meeting and John Strader secretary. Resolutions were passed expressing respect for coopers, as well as all tradesmen, and wishing them success and prosperity; condemning combinations and asking proposals for firkins, giving the coopers of Sussex preference. Here was the first fight in Sussex against "trusts."

19. Married, Gabriel L. Dunning to Mary Ann Murray, by Rev. Gabriel Conklin.

20. Sands, Halsey & Co. assume charge of tanning and currying business at Stanhope, at the old stand of Stephen O. Chidister.

34. Conference of Universalists at Branchville.

7. County Temperance Society met at Newton.

11. Married, Daniel Camp, Jr., to Mrs. Mary Hunt, by Peter Merkel, Esq.

12-13. Freeholders met. Officers remain the same as for years past. The principal feature of the report is the rigid economy shown in appropriations, and refusal to pay bills that really seemed just and proper. A committee reported that the minutes of the Orphans' Court, from 1805 to 1816, as well as the divisions of estates, were not recorded, and the titles of land were greatly jeopardized. Dr. John S. Cook seems to have been constable as well as court erier. The sum of $9,000 was ordered to be raised by taxation. A spring bar was ordered to be placed on the front door of the court room to check noise of the iron latch, and a pulley and weight was ordered for the door leading to the centre chamber; this seems to be the only piece of extravagance the Board was guilty of.

12-18. A storm of rain and snow, followed by a coating of ice on the trees, which blighted all buds and blossoms. Early vegetation and all fruit cut off. It was a mournful scene, as Nature had previously donned its most beautiful spring attire. The disastrous frost covered most of the country.

14. Thomas Allason keeps hotel at 50 Pearl street, New York city.

26. Sussex Circuit Court presided over by Chief Justice Hornblower. He charged grand jury that nine-tenths of crime was due to liquor, and intimated that Freeholders and Court of Quarter Sessions were apt to recommend and license unnecessary taverns. Cases of David Green (colored), charged with murder of an infant, and Asa Smith, a young Hercules charged with arson at Stanhope, and who was captured by Sheriff Ludlow, of Morris county, were postponed until August.

26. Drug store in brick building, southeast corner of green, about to move across the street.

28. William Rankin engages Miss Ballard to conduct female department of his select school at Deckertown.

27. Gen. Joseph Duncan, the Whig candidate for Governor of Illinois, passed through Newton on his way to Owego.

SEPTEMBER.

1. Issue of this date contains account of trial of indictments for a practical joke played upon Luther Skellenger, an inn keeper at Deckertown. In February about 50 or 60 persons led a horse up a flight of six steps to Skellenger's barroom, much to his displeasure. The act was repeated three times in the hope that Skellenger would become so angry that he would kill the horse, in which event the crowd intended to extract the animal's entrails and sew the landlord, who was a tailor, in the place vacated. The riotous demonstration failed to effect the purpose, but Skellenger secured indictments and when the trials came at the special session in August, most of the offenders were missing. Four were brought to the bar, and went to jail for thirty days, and the others were fined $10 each.

1. Charles Rhodes removes drug store to newly-fitted room on opposite side of street, and the brick building is for rent.

JANUARY.

4. Chair factory of John Trusdell, on Mill street, Newton, destroyed by fire, with all its contents. No insurance. Great depth of snow prevented loss to surrounding property. Shop afterward opened in Wm. A. Baldwin's, near corner of Green.

8. Married, Delancey McConnell to Nancy Hammill, by Rev. C. A. Lippincott.

In issue of 12th it is stated "the late severe cold weather is the theme of remark in all directions." In Newton on the 4th it averaged 14° below zero. Snow was two feet in depth at Washington, D. C. The Sussex members of the Legislature rode 80 miles with a below zero temperature, and their lot was not envied. The cold period extended from Jan. 1st to 7th, and the minimum on the 4th throughout the country, when quicksilver was frozen in many places in New England and New York. The severe cold was followed by a "January thaw" with heavy rain, which caused a serious breakup.

14. Rev. Peter Kanouse installed as pastor of the Clinton street Free Church, Newark.

30. Heavy rain, with thunder and lightning. Israel Smith's barn at Rockaway struck, and burned with two horses and two cows.

20. High prices prevailed in New York: roasting pieces of beef, 15 to 17c. a pound; mutton chops, 12 to 15c.; chickens $1.25 per pair; turkeys, $1 to $2 each.

22. William Rankin announces with his accustomed frankness the progress of his school at Deckertown. It began in the winter of 1833-4 in a room 12 feet square, with one scholar. At the end of the first session it had increased to 20, and at the third session to 73. The results were gratifying, and at the recent examination nearly 1,000 persons remained for seven hours. "The moral and religious condition of Deckertown has improved, and is not now surpassed by any other village in the State." "In point of literature, the spirit of Old Sussex is waking up."

23. Married, George W. Cooke to Elizabeth Stinson, by Rev. Jos. L. Shafer.

24. Joseph Northrup & Son dissolve partnership at Andover.

MAY.

5. Married, at Christ Church, Dr. Harvey Hallcock to Ellen C. McCarter, by Rev. C. Dunn.

John S. Smith, saddles and harness, opens business at Deckertown.

7. William Rankin, in response to call for increased school facilities, says not more than 12 or 15 scholars should be under the care of a single teacher.

14. Rev. Joseph L. Shafer offers his household goods, house and lot, pew in Presbyterian church at auction.

13. Board of Freeholders met and re-elected officers of previous year. Among other business the Jailor's fee for keeping prisoners was made 18 cents per day instead of 15 cents! Mileage of Freeholders in selling bridges was construed to mean five miles or over from his residence to the bridge. As a further sample of the closeness with which the Board did business, a bill of Dr. John R. Stuart, for vaccinating 75 paupers at poor house, during the late smallpox excitement, was refused payment. Debtors notes for board in jail were burned. The sum of $9,000 was ordered to be raised by taxation.

18. Saren B. Muusen and J. C. Bunting dissolve partnership.

19. Associates of Newton Academy met to choose new Board of Trustees.

22. J. Trusdell, captain of Newton Rangers, calls in musical instruments belonging to the company.

22. Married, Amos Smith to Caroline Woodruff, by Rev. Mr. Wilmer.

25. Sussex crop prospects flattering, except peaches, which were ruined by boisterous spring weather. Prices of grain and flour were high all over the country. At Philadelphia butter was 50 cents per pound; potatoes $1.50 per bushel.

26. Two prisoners escape from Warren county jail.

31. Rev. Joseph L. Shafer preached farewell sermon as pastor of Presbyterian church, Newton. Afterward removed his family to Middletown Point, where he assumed charge of another church.

12. Sussex Baptist Association met at Lafayette.

13. E. V. Coulton, principal of Newton Academy offers private instruction in penmanship and arithmetic.

19. A tornado passed over northern part of Warren county, and at Columbia the storm raged nearly all night. At Gravel Hill (Blairstown) the destruction was great within $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles of the village. Its force was spent on farms of Jacob Harris, John T. Snover, Andrew Dennis, William Shuster, and Adam Warner. In Snover's orchard of 300 apple trees only four or five were left standing, and the same number out of 200 trees on the Dennis farm. The storm was south-west and eastward, causing loss of several lives at New Brunswick, and much property. In Sussex the storm was violent; but beyond injury to grain by hail, it did no great damage.

20. Trusdell & Griggs, chairmakers, dissolve partnership.

22. County statement published, showing cost of poor house and interest on loans, to have been $2,548.20; Bridges and fees cost $1,982.85; Court expenses, including Constables and Jurors fees, $1,302.88; Election expenses, $243.64.

23. Publication of third annual report of Supts. of Poor House. The long and hard winter had increased the number of inmates to 103—average 80. Total cost of Institution for year, $1,978.51. The green grain was not promising on account of the heavy snow. The mulberry seed had produced some fine plants. Fully one half of the report is taken up with a statement and condemnation of the brutality of two Justices of the Peace, who, in extreme cold weather, sent two infants not more than eight or ten weeks old to the care of the institution without their mothers. Names are not mentioned, but it would be a satisfaction to know who could descend to such unfeeling and despicable meanness, merely to save a few dollars' expense.

24. Sussex Courts opened; Justice Ford presiding in Circuit. Twenty licenses granted to hotel keepers; a dozen bills of indictment found, mostly for assault and battery, the outcome of a severe winter which kept men out of employment and gave opportunity for dissipation. In Common Pleas Uriah Emmons, of Stillwater, sued John G. Buckley, under a state law prohibiting cutting or boring of timber. Buckley had tapped a pine tree on lands of Emmons to secure gum to make a plaster for a neighbor, who had a severe wound on leg. Court advised that in view of object the action be dropped, but Emmons demanded his "pound of flesh" and a verdict of $8 was rendered. In the Circuit there was only one case, and that a singular one. One Tyres and wife, of Ulster county, N. Y., brought an ejectment suit against Peter Myers, of this county, to recover possession of a farm of 140 acres, in Montague township, worth about $2,000. Myers had purchased the farm of the children of Edward Litts, whose father had lived on the farm for 50 years. On trial it was proved that Litts had, about 53 years ago, (under the name of Everitt Litts) married a woman in Ulster county, named Lentje Roos, by whom he had one child, (viz, Lydia, one of the complainants in the case.) Afterward Litts deserted this wife and child, came to Sussex and married another woman, who became the mother of eight children. The first wife was still living; the second marriage was illegal; and as he died intestate, the daughter of the first marriage claimed to be the only lawful heir, and the jury sustained her claim.

17. Sunday School Society met at Sparta. Sermon by Rev. J. L. Shafer, and an address by Daniel Haines, Esq.

21. VanBuren ticket for Sussex nominated at G. Snaile's hotel; over one thousand persons being present. The exciting cause was the candidacy of Daniel Haines and Alex. Boyles for Council. R. R. Morris opposed Mr. Boyles because the latter favored increased privileges for Morris Canal Company. Mr. B. solemnly asserted it to be untrue, and that Mr. Morris was mistaken in his remarks as to an alleged conversation. Mr. Boyles was also opposed by Judge Price, of Branchville, because he had favored the new township of Lafayette, which would "destroy old landmarks under which we have lived for fifty years." The vote was by townships, Mt. Haines securing 9 out of 11, though the individual vote would not have given him 30 majority. An independent convention was immediately called to meet at house of Obadiah Pellet, Augusta, on October 3, but it never met, as Mr. Boyles submitted to the caucus.

Among cases decided was that of an appeal of the Township of Readington, Hunterdon county, vs. Township of Hardyston, Sussex county, in case of Jane Shurtliff, a pauper. Court decided that the relief and maintenance for four years, and subsequent interment of Peter Shurtliff, husband of Jane, by Readington township, did not fix the legal settlement of the wife upon said township.—Sarah Tuttle and John L. Hoyt, both respected residents of Wantage, had courted for six months, and then the latter broke off: suit for breach of promise of marriage resulted in a verdict of $300. The defense was that the fair plaintiff had been guilty of an indiscretion, and that no promise had been made. —Wm. H. Woods recovered a verdict against Alanson A. Welling, for $105 alleged to have been lost in gambling. The Board of Freeholders were turned down in the matter of a highway near Baleville, having adopted a different route from that recommended by Surveyors of the Highway.

Millers to keep up with their rivals were placing smut machines in their mills.

23. A correspondent describes a recent successful operation for cancer on lip of Peter Hendershot, of New Paterson, as the first of the kind in this section. It was performed by Dr. Dunlap, of Stillwater, assisted by Dr. Albright, of Blairstown. This brought out another communication showing that such operations had been in practice here for over 15 or 20 years, and the licensed surgeons had not "puffed" them.

27. End of ten days trial in Sussex Circuit, between John Den, Nathaniel Saxon, and Jonathan Oliver vs. Ira Fuller. The action was to recover about 400 acres of land in Stillwater township, part of a tract of 884 acres taken up in 1745, and confiscated to the State of New Jersey in 1779, as the property of John Taber Kemp and Grace, his wife; they having joined the British during the Revolution. In 1814 the property was sold by the State to John Johnson, Esq., under whom the present plaintiff held title. The East and West Jersey line, as run by John Lawrence, in 1743, upon which line this tract was, in part, bounded, was plainly marked on the south side of Swartwout's pond, and up to the 106 mile tree from Egg Harbor, after which all further trace of the direct line was lost. Jury found verdict for trespass and ejectment against the defendant. For plaintiff, W. S. Johnson, Peter D. Vroom, and Wm. T. Anderson. For defendant, R. Hamilton, D. Haines and M. Ryerson.

4. In this issue an obituary notice is printed of Lewis Cornelius, who died at Milford, Pa., Sept. 27, aged 48 years. In youth he was spare and slender, showing no indication of the great bodily size he afterward attained. He labored actively until ten or twelve years before his death, when he became too weighty in flesh, and was favorably known as a hotel keeper. He was slightly ill for two or three days previous to his death, which was very unexpected. His dimensions, taken after his death, were as follows: height, 6 ft.; circumference of body, 8 ft., 2 in.; do of wrist, 1 ft., 3 in.; do of thigh, 4 ft., 2 in.; ankle, 1 ft., 7 in.; waist, 6 ft., 2½ in.; arm above elbow, 2 ft., 2 in.; below, 1 ft., 9 in.; calf of leg, 2 ft., 7 in.; weight, 645½ lb.
